Section 1: Personal details

This information will be used to join together Part 1 and Part 3 of your application forms.

Name

Andrew Grant

Date of birth

Day Month Year

The next section asks you to write your statement of abuse.

Section 2: Your statement of abuse

Please refer to page 32 of the “Help to apply” guidance when filling in this form.

Please make sure that whatever way you provide your statement, you include all the information Redress Scotland needs to make a decision. You can find out more on page 35 of “Help to apply”.

You may find that writing this brings up feelings or memories. If you need support you can speak to a case worker who can refer you to further help:

- Telephone: 0808 175 0808 (freephone)
- International: +44 131 297 6500
Lines are open Monday to Thursday, from 10am to 4pm (except Scottish public holidays)
- Email: apply@redress-scheme.scot

Providing your statement of abuse

In Part 1, you will have provided information about any relevant care settings you were abused in.

In Part 3, you need to provide a statement about your abuse. You can choose how you want to provide your statement. You can complete Q1, Q2, Q3 and Q4. Or you can:

- submit a previous statement (for example, a copy of a statement given to the police)
- write your statement in another format that is better suited to you

How to complete this section

You may have been abused in one relevant care setting, or in several different ones.

For this part of the application form, please provide a statement about each care setting you were abused in.

For example, if you were abused in 3 relevant care settings, please provide 3 statements.

You can do this in any order that makes sense to you.

There are pages for 4 care settings included in this form. If you need more copies, you can:

- contact a case worker
- make a copy yourself
- print additional pages from mygov.scot/redress

Please remember:

- there are no wrong answers - if Redress Scotland needs more or different information, your case worker will get in touch with you and let you know
- do not worry about your spelling
- use as much or as little space as you need to give your information - you can continue on additional pages if you want to

Your statement for Care setting 1

Please read page 32 of the “Help to apply” guidance before you begin.

In Part 1, you will have already provided information about the care settings you were abused in. By providing this information here, your case worker can join together the name of the care setting with your statement of abuse.

Q1 | What is the name or location of the relevant care setting you were abused in?

(For example, the name of the care home, or the city or region where you lived in foster care or while boarded out).

foster care

Do not worry if you are uncertain about dates or time. Please provide your best estimate.

Q2 | When were you abused?

For example: a single date, an age, or an approximate time or time range.

1980-1989

You do not have to provide names, if you cannot remember or do not feel comfortable doing so. If you do provide a name it will be passed to Police Scotland.

Q3 | Who was involved in your abuse?

For example: a member of staff, a peer or someone outside the care setting.

The information you provide will be used by Redress Scotland to make a decision about your application. Redress Scotland will use the “Assessment framework” to help them do this, available on gov.scot. Please be aware that it contains graphic descriptions of abuse.

Q4 | On the next page, please provide as much information as you can about:

- the abuse you experienced while living in this care setting
- what life was like for you during this time
- how the people responsible for your care and welfare failed to carry out that duty (within or beyond your care setting)

You can continue on additional pages if you need to.

Please read page 36 of “Help to apply” to find out more about what information you may want to include.

When I was placed into my foster family, I expected to feel safe, but instead I was met with cruelty. From early on, it became clear that I was not treated the same as their own child. I often felt like I didn't belong, like I was less important, and that feeling stayed with me every day I lived there.

They would hit me regularly, at least once a week. Whenever I had a meltdown or "threw a fit," instead of trying to understand what I was going through, they would punish me physically. It didn't matter why I was upset or what had happened—I was met with anger and violence. It made me feel like my emotions were wrong, like I wasn't allowed to feel anything at all.

One of the things I remember most clearly was being made to stand in the hallway, waiting for my foster dad to come home. That waiting was one of the worst parts. I would just stand there, full of fear, knowing what was coming. When he arrived, he would hit me with a slipper or a belt, at least six times, over and over again. It wasn't just the physical pain—it was the dread leading up to it and the feeling that I had no escape.

I was also called horrible names. The words stuck with me just as much as the physical punishment. They made me feel small, worthless, and unwanted. It wasn't just the obvious abuse—there were also small, constant things they did to make me feel like I didn't belong. It was in the way they spoke to me, the way they looked at me, and how differently they treated their own son. Their son was treated with kindness and patience, things I rarely experienced. Seeing that difference made everything harder. It showed me that they were capable of being caring, just not toward me. That comparison made me feel even more alone, like there was something wrong with me.

Even when I tried my best, it never felt like enough. At school, I worked hard and sometimes received awards for good behaviour or achievement. I remember feeling proud and hopeful when I brought those home, thinking maybe this time they would be pleased with me. But instead, my foster mum would downplay it, brushing it off as if it didn't matter. Those moments hurt deeply because they made me feel invisible.

Living in that environment made me feel constantly anxious and unsure of myself. I was always trying to avoid doing something wrong, always trying to earn approval that never came. It wasn't just about the punishment—it was about feeling like I would never be good enough, no matter what I did.

Do you want help
with this section?

If you want help before sending in the form, you can:

- read page 32 of the “Help to apply” guidance
- contact a case worker

The next section has questions about your supporting documents.

Section 3: Supporting documents

Please provide any supporting documents you have related to your abuse in care.

You can find out more about these types of documents on page 33 of the “Help to apply” guidance.

In some cases, it may be difficult to find supporting documents. To help with this part of the application, you can:

- include supporting documents when you send this part of the form, if you already have them
- send in your form without any supporting documents – your case worker will get in touch with you and have a conversation about what you can provide

Please tick which option you have chosen:

- I am including supporting documents with my form
- I am not including supporting documents
(if you tick this, a case worker will contact you)
- I am collecting my documents and will submit them a later date

Do you want help
