- do not worry about your spelling
- use as much or as little space as you need to give your information - you can continue on additional pages if you want to

During my time in foster care, me and my brother were moved through multiple different houses. There were a couple of times when they split us up, and that was incredibly hard for me. Being separated from him made everything feel even more frightening and unstable. We relied on each other, and losing that support, even temporarily, was horrible.

I remember one placement in particular with an older woman who treated us more like a payday than children who needed care. She didn't show us any kindness or warmth. One time, she even put cellotape on my brother's face, which was shocking and upsetting to witness. She also allowed her grandson to beat me and my brother. Instead of protecting us, she stood by and let it happen. She would be nasty to us, call us names, and shout at us for no reason.

We had to share a room, and she never gave us any toys or anything to make us feel welcome. Our routine was strict and cold — we would have our dinner at half five and then be sent straight to bed. There was no comfort, no affection, and no sense that we mattered. It felt like we were just being kept there, not cared for.

There were many times in that house when we felt completely neglected, like nobody was actually looking after us. We were vulnerable children who needed support, but instead we were treated unfairly and made to feel unwanted. Those experiences have stayed with me, and they have had a lasting impact on how I see myself and how I cope with difficult situations even now.
