Good Afternoon,

Thank you for your email,

We are writing in relation to our mutual client John Cavangh, for whom we hold a valid Letter of Authority authorising us to act on their behalf.

We kindly ask that any documentation or correspondence relating to this matter is sent directly to our office rather than to the client. We note that although your practice has a set policy in place when dealing with Subject Access Requests, however, it does not override ICO guidelines.

This request has been made in the client's best interests, as receiving these documents directly may cause them significant distress and could bring back difficult memories that they have expressed a wish to avoid where possible.

By sending the documentation to us, we can review the contents first and ensure that any information is handled appropriately and sensitively, while continuing to act in accordance with the authority provided by our client.

We would be grateful if you could update your records accordingly and direct all future correspondence regarding this matter to us.

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation.

Kind regards,

Daniel
