Dear Miss Margery ,

We have received a letter from the Mammogram Screening Service that you did not respond to their invitation for screening.

This programme is a nationally organised programme to screen women for breast cancer. Most women will have a normal result but those who have abnormal results are referred for further tests. It is not everyone who has an abnormal result that will end up having breast cancer but as you are aware, early diagnosis leads to better outcomes. You may have good reason why you did not respond to the invitation but the Surgery's advice is that you should participate in the Programme.

If you wish to participate in the screening programme please contact the Surgery and we will then arrange a re-referral so that you are added back on their list.

Yours sincerely,

ST GEORGE'S MED CNTR, AT (Dr)
