Attends alone. Walked unaided into unit, normal gait. Appears and reports feeling systemically well. Previously applied dressing intact. On removal, distal most aspect of wound has only very light layer of slough present - beneath which is healthy granulating tissue. Heavy slough remains mid to proximal aspect. No current clinical indication of infection. Distal sensation and circulation appear intact. Awaiting collection of dressings via GP. Will return in further 2/7 - unless any concerns.
