Dear Doctor,

RE: Thomas Murphy 126 Lomond Drive, Langlees Falkirk
Date of Birth: 20/5/68. FDRI: F340413.

I would be most grateful for your advice with regard to the above young man. He has a recent history of having developed as what he describes as "funny turns". The first episode appears to have occurred in 2002 and apparently was initiated by a disco-type strobe light whereby he felt that he was no longer in control of his body, became sweaty, lightheaded and was apparently witnessed to be jerking.

He has a long past medical history of anxiety and I wonder whether his symptoms are perhaps anxiety related. Please find attached copies of letters from Dr Buchanan's Clinic which he attended last year for initial investigation of these events. A fuller history of these episodes and his past medical history is concisely summarised in these letters and so therefore will not repeat it here.

As you can see Dr Buchanan has suggested that if his symptoms persisted then perhaps referral to your Clinic would be appropriate. Mr Murphy continues to describe similar events and is becoming increasingly concerned about the nature of these "turns". I would be grateful for your opinion. Many thanks

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Carolyn McNeill

Mr Murphy's EEG report is to hand. This is normal with no epileptic jumps with photic stimulation particularly towards the end as he becomes more anxious.

As you will see from previous correspondence for Dr Buchanan, we will therefore not be following Mr Murphy up further at present and if his problems were to return or persist, referral to our neurological colleagues at the epilepsy service would be appropriate.

Yours sincerely

Dear Dr McNeill

THOMAS MURPHY (Date of Birth 20:05:1968)
126 Lomond Drive, Falkirk, FK2 7TX

Thank you for referring Mr Murphy to the Community Mental Health Team.

I saw him for assessment on 22nd February 2005. His main complaints were of feeling nervous and anxious and he also gave me a letter he had written detailing numerous physical complaints. He tells me he has been anxious all his life, but has actually been feeling a bit better recently since he recognised that this may be the problem. He describes episodes where his muscles feel tense, he feels shaky, is occasionally sweaty, has palpitations, feels that his throat is closing over, has difficulty breathing, over-breathes and experiences nausea and vomiting. During these episodes he sometimes feels like he is going to die or worries about what is going to happen to him. He describes feeling closed-in and as if he wants to hold onto something. These symptoms are intermittent and he can go for up to one week without symptoms. These episodes tend to last between 5-10 minutes. It was difficult to identify specific triggers, but he described experiencing these symptoms when he was speaking to his family about things, thinking about the past or sometimes when he is going out of the house. He is able to control these symptoms to an extent by taking deep breaths, sitting down or taking a drink of tea.

Otherwise, he describes feeling happy and is able to get on with his life, although he tells me it can sometimes be a struggle. He likes to keep busy and does not describe any loss of enjoyment or motivation. He describes himself as sociable. His appetite, weight and concentration are OK. He is not sleeping well but this is a long-standing problem. He is not describing any suicidal thoughts.

The letter from the neurologist had mentioned "paranoid thoughts". These were not evident at interview. He did tell me when I was asking about his background history that he thought something had happened to him in the past, which his family had not told him about, which he feels may explain the problems he has had in his life. He thinks this because he has overheard things in his family's conversations which makes his doubt that what he has been told in the past is true. He feels that things need "brought to the table" with his family. He also talked about being in situations where he thinks he is right, other people disagree with him and then he doubts himself. None of the thoughts that he expressed had a delusional quality. He also described vivid dreams and said, "It's like I'm in an action movie" when I'm sleeping. He gave examples of dreams, but there was nothing particularly unusual about this.

The physical; symptoms that he describes include pains in his chest, overall aches and pains, a weakness of his right arm and his body jerking in reaction to lights. All these things, I understand, have been investigated and nil abnormal has been found. Of note, I see from Dr Aylward's letter that epilepsy has been excluded.

Past Psychiatric History

Mr Murphy thinks that he may have seen a psychiatrist when he was a child, but was not definite about this. He was taken to a psychiatric hospital 8 years ago as "he blew his top". He was not admitted to hospital. There is no other past psychiatric history

Past Medical History

He has had investigations for the physical complaints described above. He also fractured his left leg in 1999.

Drug History

He is currently prescribed painkillers. In the past he has been prescribed Citalopram 20mg in 2001 and Venlafaxine XL 75mg in 2002. On both occasions he took a few tablets and then stopped taking them. He also took Chlorpromazine approximately 8 years ago. He is not keen on taking tablets.

Family History

His brother and father suffer from anxiety disorders.

Alcohol/Drug History

He currently drinks alcohol once per month and estimates that he drinks a couple of pints on these occasions. He smokes approximately about 1 oz of tobacco a week. He has taken illegal drugs in the past, including amphetamines, Cannabis and Heroin, but nothing for the past 7-8 years.

Background/Social History

He was born in Clydebank and no details of his pregnancy or delivery were available. He moved to Yorkshire aged 1 and moved back to Clydebank again, aged 8. He tells me that he was always a rogue and mischievous. His mother and father apparently had quite a stormy relationship, but he said that they were good to him. He went to an approved school, aged 12, as he said he was misbehaving, had been expelled from school and was running away from home. Between the ages of 12 – 15 he was always getting into a lot of trouble. When he was aged 14 or 15 he was sentenced to 2 years for abduction, which he tells me was following an incident where he convinced a young boy to give him a lift on a motorcycle. He has been in prison for 7 – 8 years in total, but did not say what else he had been imprisoned for. He was last in prison in 1987. He left school aged approximately 13 and has worked in a variety of places intermittently, including in a hotel, as a labourer, factory jobs and in security. He last worked in 1999. He is currently unemployed and on benefits. He is the youngest of five children, having 2 older brothers and 2 older sisters. His mother, father, 1 brother and 1 sister live in Yorkshire. He has a sister who lives nearby, but he has no contact with her. He has 1 brother who lives in Dunbartonshire. He tells me that some of his siblings have a different father. He moved back to England again in 1985 and returned to Scotland approximately 3 years ago. He has been married once for under a year. He tells me he has 4 children in total to 3 different relationships and he is unsure whether he is actually the father of these children. He has no contact with his children. He currently lives alone and has some casual relationships.

Mental State

He was casually dressed and well-kempt. His behaviour was appropriate but he was a bit overfamiliar. He had normal speech. His mood appeared euthymic and relative and he did not appear particularly anxious. There was no evidence of any delusional beliefs or perceptual disturbance.

Formulation

Mr Murphy is a 36-year-old man who seems to be suffering from a panic disorder. He has in the past led quite a chaotic life, but his lifestyle seems to have settled down over the past 8 years: however it seems that his lifestyle and incidents from the past may be having some ongoing effect on him.

Diagnosis

Panic Disorder

Treatment Plan

- 1 I will refer him to Psychology in Primary Care for anxiety management/CBT. I will write to him to make him aware of this referral
- 2 I did not suggest using any psychotropic medication at present.
- 3 I have not arranged any psychiatric follow-up, but he can be referred again in the future if his problems persist.

Dear Dr McNeill

Re: Mr Thomas Murphy, 126 Lomond Drive, Falkirk, FK2 7TX (Dob: 20.05.68)

Thank you for referring the above patient to the Behavioural Psychotherapy Service.

Mr Murphy complains of experiencing panics, which he suffers most days. Apparently these happen anywhere, but are more likely in busy, social situations. His fear consequence is that he will collapse and die.

The onset of these panics began 7 years ago. He also complains of suffering from numerous physical complaints and chronic pain in his head and his leg. He also tells me that he has suffered from epileptic-type seizures, although I believe these have previously been excluded.

He has physical symptoms of panic, including dry mouth, breathlessness, tightness in the chest, dizzy, lightheadedness, trembling. He usually tries to distract himself or cope by doing deep breathing exercises. He also uses avoidance and escape behaviours.

Apparently the panic is usually triggered when he experiences pain, which he describes as shooting up his right side. He worries that this is some sign of serious illness and starts to get anxious and consequently panics. He tells me that there is a family history of anxiety and both his father and brother also suffer chronic anxiety problems.

I have introduced him to the cognitive behavioural model and given him some initial education re. anxiety and panic and hope to introduce further cognitive behavioural strategies to help him cope with his difficulties.

I will, of course, keep you informed of any developments and write to you again on discharge.

Yours sincerely

Dear Dr. McNeill,

RE: Thomas Murphy, 126 Lomond Drive, Langlees, Falkirk - DOB: 20/5/1968

Thank you for asking us to see this 35 year old man. He describes an episode in December 2002 when he was at a disco with a strobe light. He became sweaty, felt as if his whole body was jerking, he did not lose consciousness, there was no tongue biting or incontinence. This sensation of feeling very unwell and his whole body jerking lasted until the strobe light was turned off. His brother turned the light back on again to see if the same thing would happen again and it did. He denies any alcohol or drug ingestion at that time. He has had no previous episodes or episode since. He had minor head injuries at the age of 3 years and 8 years. He does not currently drive.

He has a long history of attending the surgery and previous surgeries because of anxiety/panic attacks. He has no known allergies. He is on no medication at present although previously he was on antidepressants. He is divorced with 4 children. He is currently unemployed through his anxiety. He smokes half an ounce of tobacco every 4 days and he says every 2-3 months he has a binge drink of alcohol. His family history is of anxiety and panic attacks and a grandfather with diabetes. He is thin and anxious. He was euthyroid. Pulse 80 and regular. JVP was not raised. Heart sounds were normal with no murmurs. Blood pressure was 120/80. Chest and abdominal examinations were normal. Neurological examination - cranial nerves were intact. Fundi were normal. There was no focal neurological deficit.

Given his description it is hard to know exactly what happened but with the association with strobe lighting he may well have had some seizure like activity although he did not lose consciousness. I have advised him to avoid situations where there is strobe lighting. He does not drive so he does not require any advice regarding this. I have also said that even if this was seizure activity that he has had only one episode and I would not put him on to long-term anticonvulsants at this stage. I have checked some routine bloods. I have checked a baseline ECG and I have also requested an EEG, CT brain scan and 24 hour ECG. If all of these are normal I would not be proposing to follow this up further. If he did have a further episode then I would suggest that we refer him to the Epilepsy Clinic.

Yours sincerely

History of Presenting Complaint

Reason for Referral (& Expectation of Outcome)

I would be most grateful for your advice with regard to the above gentleman. He has only fairly recently joined our practice but according to his past medical history appears to have a longstanding problem with previous anxiety, depression and alcohol excess in the past. He tells me however, that he has been abstinent from alcohol for quite some time now. He returned to England over Christmas and New Year to visit his family and tells me that while he was at a party where a flashing type disco light was in use he took what he thinks was a fit or seizure. He tells me that he developed a sensation of his body feeling as if it was pulsating or about to twitch and this was shortly followed by an episode of uncontrolled generalised jerking or twitching. He tells me however, that he does not think he was complete unconscious during this episode and that he was still aware to some degree of his surroundings. This episode was witnessed by his family who were quite alarmed and felt that it looked as if he had had "an epileptic fit". He had no tongue biting and no incontinence. He tells me that he had not had any alcohol and no other substance of misuse either. He has had no previous similar episode and equally has not had any other events since. He is otherwise symptom free and clinical examination is unremarkable. His attendance at the surgery today was too late for the laboratory to be open for blood tests so I have arranged for him to make an appointment for the Practice Nurse to have all his bloods checked in the near future. He is understandably a little alarmed by this episode and is keen to seek your opinion as to whether this was truly a seizure or not. His only regular medication is Co-codamol Effervescent tablets 8/500, which are used for pain from a previous old ankle fracture. Many thanks.

Dear Doctor,

Your patient has claimed benefit due to incapacity and we now have to assess their capacity to perform any work, not just their own job, using the Personal Capability Assessment procedures. People with certain severe medical conditions can be accepted as meeting the threshold of incapacity for benefit purposes without undergoing the Personal Capability Assessment or, if the assessment has to be applied, without undergoing a medical examination.

From the information you have provided on a medical statement (for example form Med 3), or information otherwise available to the medical officer, it appears that this may be such a case. In order to advise the Benefits Agency decision maker in accordance with the law, the medical officer requires further factual information. We would be obliged if you would answer the medical officer's questions or, if clearly indicating on a separate sheet, any medical evidence that you think would be harmful to the patient's health. An example of what may be harmful information is a diagnosis that is not known to your patient such as malignancy, progressive neurological conditions or major mental illness.

Your patient has given written consent on their claim form to allow us to approach you for this information.

If you have agreed to treat this patient under the NHS (General Medical Services) Regulations 1992 as amended March 1998 and equivalent regulations in Scotland, and have issued, or refused to issue, a medical certificate to them, you are obliged by your terms of service to supply clinical information to a medical officer. A similar obligation applies to most hospital and community doctors working within the NHS. You are not obliged to do this if you have not agreed to treat the patient under the NHS but any information you are willing to provide will be much appreciated. Unfortunately, we will be unable to pay you for it.

A reply within 7 days will be appreciated and a business reply envelope is enclosed for your use. If you have any queries about this form please contact the medical officer at your local Medical Services Centre, see leaflet IB204 Guide for Registered Medical Practitioners.

Thank you for your help.

Yours sincerely

Today's check XR shows evidence of callus around the # site left tibia and the overall alignment is quite satisfactory. 5 weeks now he has been in above knee complete plaster and NWB. I think that we could bring this plaster down to a Sarmiento type which I have confirmed with Mr Gollapudi and he also agrees and allow him to weight bear within the plaster and review him in 3.52 to reassess clinically. Dear Dr Garland-Collins

THOMAS MURPHY - DOB 20.05.68.
34 First Avenue, Fitzwilliam.

I saw Mr Murphy at the A & E Department at Pontefract General Infirmary on 5th May 1997. I had been asked by the Casualty Doctor to see him as he had a history of drug abuse and had some vague symptoms which appeared to be anxiety symptoms.

As you know, Mr Murphy is a 29 year old man who has recently been divorced and has been living with his parents for a few weeks since he split up with his girlfriend. He arrived at the A & E Department along with his sister, who usually lives in Scotland.

Mr Murphy told me that he had come to the A & E Department, not to seek any help for his symptoms, but to have a test done to establish the presence of drugs in his system. The reason for this was that he thought certain people were giving him drugs in his drink (tea or coffee) for some unknown reason, and he wanted to take legal action against them. He also told me that another female friend of his had similarly been given drugs in her tea, and she was also going to do the same, and it was actually she who had told him the previous night about it. Looking back at his symptoms, it had become clear to him that the reason was the drugs that he was being given, unknown to him.

Mr Murphy said that he had been taking cannabis and amphetamines up to about ten days before that day, and had stopped taking all kinds of drugs since then. He told me that he felt aggressive and paranoid, and had smashed a window at his sister's boyfriend's place and had also beaten him up when he refused to let him in for a drink. He also complained of body pains and said that sometimes at night he saw yellow lights as pink, and said that these were hallucinations. He complained of numbness of his lips off and on and a tightness in his jaw.

INVESTOR IN PEOPLE

As a result of his aggressive behaviour, his father had told him to leave his house and he had refused to believe Mr Murphy when he said that his tea was being spiked.

Past History

Mr Murphy has been taking cannabis since the age of 14, and amphetamines since the age of 24, though the latter has not been taken regularly. At the age of 13, he was seen by a psychiatrist, probably for disturbed behaviour.

Family History

He has two brothers and two sisters. His parents are alive and there is no significant history in the family.

Personal History

Mr Murphy had a normal birth and early development. He says that he was an average student at school and had no problems until the age of 13. After that he truanted, ran away from home, showed aggressive behaviour towards others, was involved in burglaries and assaults, and a few months ago he had been released from prison where he had been for three years after he assaulted his wife. ~~His first sexual relationship started at 18 and lasted for eight years, and he has two children from that relationship. Three years ago he got married after an 18 month courtship, and just two weeks after the marriage they split up when he assaulted her because he said she was being unfaithful. He indulged in heavy drinking for about a year or so four years ago. He has never worked at any place for more than 12 weeks at a time. His last job finished around Christmas time last year.~~

On Mental State Examination Mr Murphy was a thin man with very short hair. He wore an earring. There was no evidence of agitation or retardation. He laughed and smiled while he talked and occasionally joked. He maintained eye contact and a good rapport. He talked with a Scottish accent. At the time of interview there was no evidence of depression, elation or anxiety. Hypnagogic hallucinations were reported. Regarding his thought content, he was preoccupied by his drink being spiked and had vague persecutory ideation. He was well orientated in time, space and person, and his memory was satisfactory. His concentration and general knowledge were also satisfactory. So far as his insight was concerned, he was not too remorseful about his behaviour in the past.

Mr Murphy seemed to have marked asocial personality traits. He has a definite history of drug abuse and violent behaviour, together with problems within the family and outside the family.

On being questioned, Mr Murphy told me that the last time he thought his drink had been spiked was over 48 hours before he was seen. I discussed the problem with Dr Silva, who was the Consultant Psychiatrist on call, and I also talked to the Casualty Doctor. Dr Silva did not think that we should be doing any tests on him and he advised that Mr Murphy should first report this to the police. The Casualty Doctor felt that further action could only be taken if there was any official direction to do something.

I explained the situation to Mr Murphy and he seemed to understand it. At that time he had no aggressive ideas towards the people concerned or anybody else, and he was very sure that he would not do anything illegal and would remain strictly legal.

Although there are mild anxiety symptoms reported, Mr Murphy did not seek treatment for them and said he would do that later if he got worse. Regarding the persecutory ideas, there was another person involved so they are not likely to be pathological. If, in the future, there are symptoms suggestive of psychiatric disturbance, referral to the sector psychiatrist could be made.

Dear Sir

I apologise for the delay in replying to your letter. Mr Murphy has recently moved onto my medical list and as yet I do not have his full past medical records.

At present, he is on sick with a leg injury and he has also been somewhat depressed.

He was last seen on 14/9/94 by my partner when he was given a further sick note in relation to his leg injury.

I would think he could manage any job that does not involve a lot of standing or walking.

Please do not hesitate to contact me by telephone if you require any further information.

Re: Thomas MURPHY dob 20.5.68

I am writing regarding the above person, who, I understand is a patient of yours. Mr Murphy is aware that I intend to contact you and has signed a consent for me to do so (attached copy).

Mr Murphy is subject to a court order requiring him to perform 60 hours unpaid work. As he is currently certified sick he is precluded from performing the order of the court, but he is anxious to make progress.

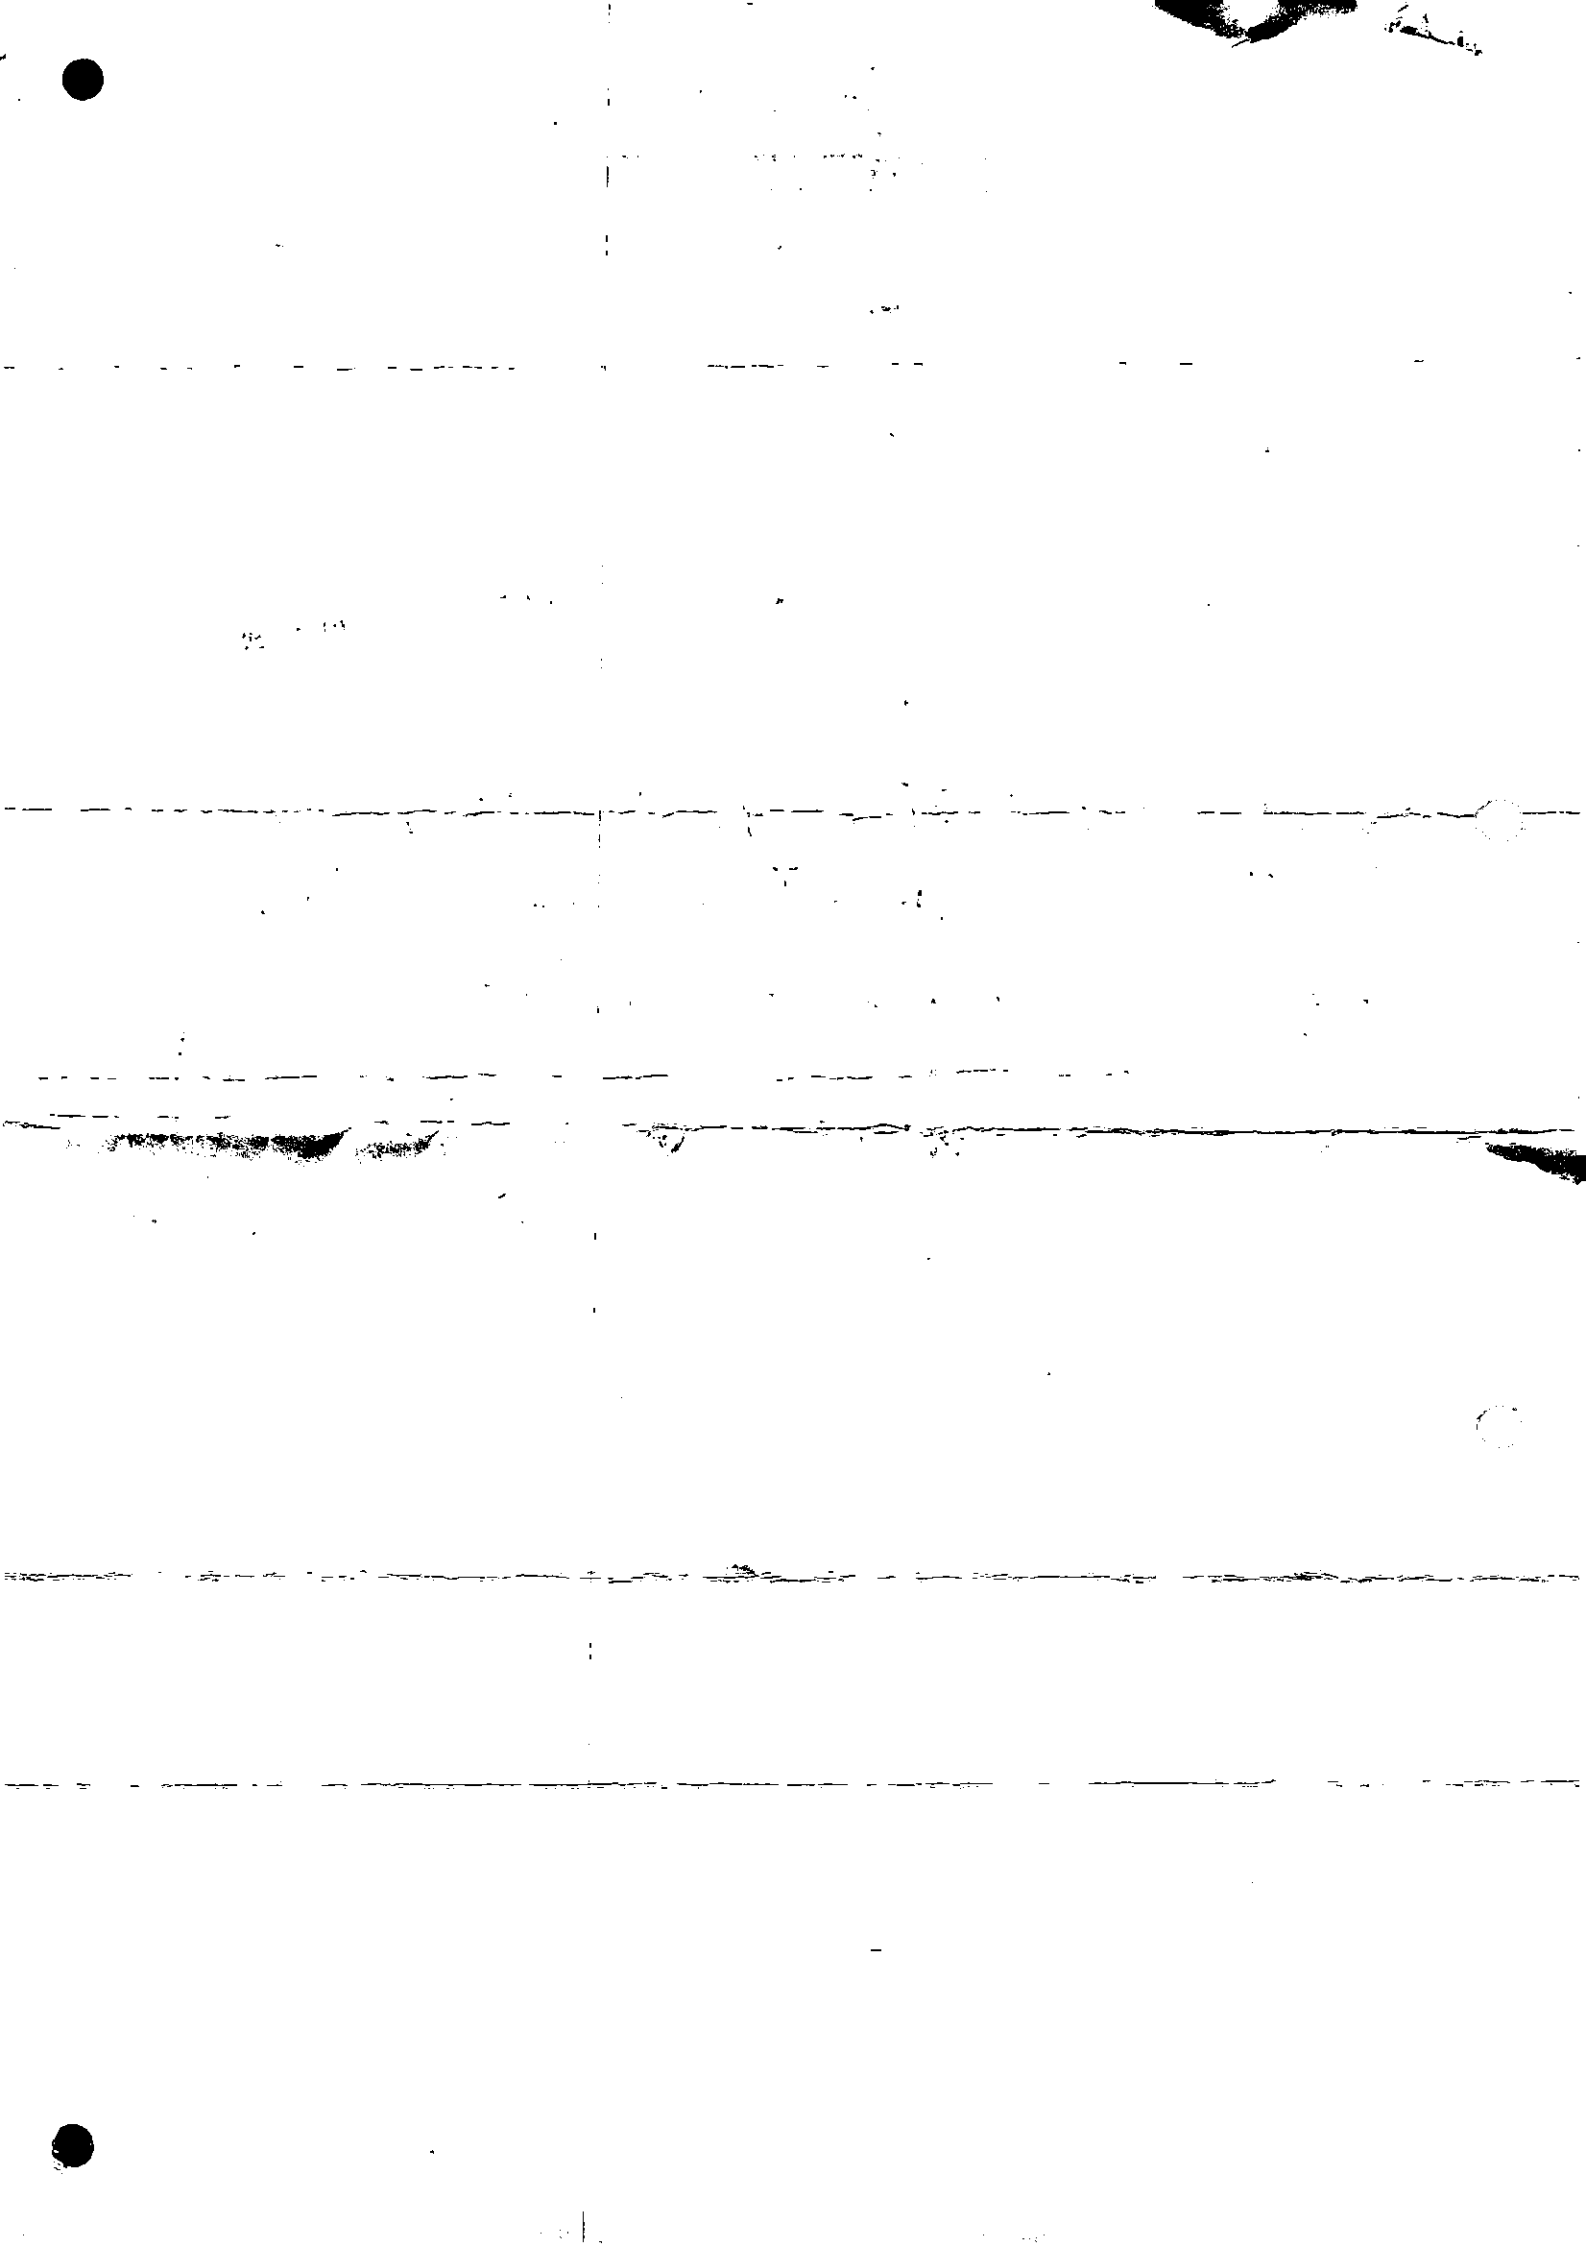

It may be that Mr Murphy could perform certain tasks that would not exacerbate his medical condition. We have a range of work, for example, painting, gardening, bench joinery work, cooking and preparing food, delivering charity leaflets. If you feel that Mr Murphy could reasonably perform any of these tasks could you indicate which, or if his condition is such that he cannot do any work, then perhaps you could also indicate this as it would be helpful in deciding on an appropriate course of action regarding this court order.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if I can be of assistance.

Yours sincerely

Diagnosis: Non-specific abdominal pain

He was admitted acutely on 30th April 1989 with a two day history of epigastric pain radiating through to the back associated with vomiting. Examination revealed a minor degree of tenderness in the epigastrium but was otherwise normal. Blood tests revealed an elevated creatinine at 209 but were otherwise normal. His pain quickly settled and he was discharged home on 2nd May 1989 to have his renal function repeated as an outpatient.

Dear Dr Zaman

THOMAS MURPHY 20.5.68

This 20 year old unemployed man has very vague dyspeptic symptoms which did not suggest an organic problem. He appears to feel hungry more than anything and he feels better when he eats. He has not had any nocturnal pain and he says his weight is steady. He has had no problems with his bowels. I understand he had been taking Pepcid 40 at night and he was sure if it had helped. Gastros-copy was absolutely normal and I have reassured him of this. I have given him a prescription for Maxolon to take 10mg before meals and before bed, and I have asked him to report back to you before the supply runs out. I can only suggest that you treat him symptomatically. His symptoms are those of a "nervous stomach".

Dear Dr Kamal

THOMAS MURPHY (20 05 68)
13 CATHERINE STREET FITZWILLIAM

This young man hit somebody on the teeth with his right fist in August '85. He remembers that he had a wound in the region of the middle finger MP joint from which he removed one of his opponents teeth. After this, not unnaturally, the joint was swollen and infected.

Examination reveals that the joint is locally tender today and x-ray reveals that there are some erosions of the edges of the metacarpal head. ESR, Latex and Uric acid are all normal

This man sustained a septic arthritis of his right middle finger MP joint. It is quiet. There is continuing disability because of the infection. Nothing can sensibly be done for him now.

This patient attended the Casualty Department on 8 August '85 with a history of being attacked two weeks ago. He complained of pain and swelling of the right hand. The x-ray department reported on the Casualty card that examination was limited by flexion deformity - but there is cause for concern at middle finger MCPJ where there is loss of articular cortical margins. He attended again on the 6 November 1985 when he was still unable to extend the 3rd MCPJ. He was given an appointment to attend the Fracture Clinic but despite three appointments he has failed to keep any. No further appointment has been sent to him.

I refer you to my letter of the 26 November 1985.
Apparently the reason this lad did not attend for treatment is that he was in custody. He came up today and I examined his hand. He does not have full extension in the metacarpophalangeal joint of his right middle finger, but flexion is full and his grip is good and I don't think he requires any further treatment for this hand.

SUMMARY

Your patient was admitted as an emergency having taken approximately 16 tablets of amitriptyline 25mg. He claims to have spat most of these tablets out but the staff at the list D school where he is at present attending had referred him for further observation and investigation.

The overdose was precipitated by the stress associated with a court appearance the next day. There were no abnormal signs on clinical examination.

Gastric lavage was carried out with minimal return of tablets. He was observed overnight with no upward effects and was seen the following day by Dr. Read, Consultant Psychiatrist. He felt he was fit to return to school and he would arrange any further psychiatric follow up as indicated.

I removed this boy's Ts. & As. on the 9th January and he was readmitted to Pontefract on the 16th after secondary haemorrhage from the left side. A large clot was removed and Epsikapron was applied. There was no further bleeding. His Hb. fell to 8.3gm%, equivalent to 57%, and iron was advised.

His throat has now quite healed but he is still pale and has a poor appetite. I have added Ascorbic Acid 25mgm. twice a day and he should continue to take iron but I have not arranged any further examination of his throat.
