PSYCHIATRIC REPORT

Re: Andrew Martin Shaw.
21/04/1967.

Case Ref. No: 9500059460.

At the request of the Sheriff Clerk Depute, Hamilton, I Doctor Isobel Campbell, Consultant Forensic Psychiatrist from Hartwoodhill Hospital examined Andrew Shaw at H.M.P. Barlinnie on the 4th December 1995 for the purpose of preparing a Psychiatric Report. I had a copy of the Charges to which the Defendant has pled guilty and a copy of his Previous Convictions. I am recognised in terms of Section 20 of the Mental Health (Scotland) Act: 1984 as having special experience in the diagnosis and treatment of mental disorder.

The Charges: Andrew Shaw is convicted of reset of a car, driving a car without licence and driving a car without insurance. Although he has a long previous history of taking and driving away cars from the age of 11 years this is the first conviction since his release from prison in November 1993. While he was in prison he sought help of his own volition from visiting Clinical Psychologist. He recognises that he is likely to offend when he is feeling angry or distressed and he recognises that his offending behaviour relieves these unpleasant feelings for him.

Past Psychiatric History: He was seen for 5 months during his last sentence by Mr Gerry Rooney, Clinical Psychologist at H.M.P. Shotts. He found that helpful and initially he dealt with his uncomfortable feelings by phoning his supervising officer whenever he felt that he was tempted to take a car. However he found that latterly the pressure was too much and he therefore ended up driving illegally once again.

Past Medical History: He has suffered from Peptic Ulcer which perforated in 1993. He continues to receive Ranitidine therapy for his ulcer.

Cont/...

Andrew Martin Shaw.

There is no history of head injury, no history of Epilepsy and he has had no other serious illnesses.

Family History: He is the youngest of 4 brothers. There was a big gap between him and the next youngest sibling of 14-15 years. His mother died of congenital heart disease when he was only 8 years of age. His father is now 70 years old. He is a retired Steel Worker and he maintains contact with his son.

Personal History: His family background is very tragic, his mother having died suddenly when he was aged 8 years. His older brothers were all away from home by that time and his father failed to cope with his wife's death and started to drink. He describes vividly how he had to get himself up in the morning and feed himself and get out to school and how he would come home at night and have no idea where his father was. In effect his father was neither available for him physically nor emotionally. I would consider that he was emotionally neglected and also physically neglected at that time in his childhood. There was no one to whom he could speak and no one with whom he could discuss his own feelings of sadness at his mother's death.

He drifted around, frequently truanting from school and gradually became involved in offending behaviour. He first stole a car at the age of 11 years and the car which he took belonged to his older brother who was home on leave from the Army. He indicated that driving the car made him feel happier, that he had something which was finally under his control and he said "it did what I wanted it to do". Given that his important parental figures had been so unreliable for him it is understandable that he took refuge in something which was inanimate and which was under his control. He described frequently sleeping in the cars which he stole and feeling safe in them.

Since his release from prison in 1993 he started a College Course doing Social Care and having completed the first year he was about to start the second year of the course at North Glasgow College.

He also formed a relationship and this lasted from February 1994 until April 1995. He moved in with a woman who was much older than he and who herself had an 18 year old son. He found it difficult to cope with the relationship and he described how he found it very difficult to articulate feelings of anger or sadness in the relationship. The relationship broke down in April 1995 and his offending took place in May 1995.

Drug and Alcohol History: He is a non drinker. He has no history of use of illicit substances. He takes prescribed medication for ulcer. He is a non smoker.

Social History: He has little form of relaxation. He does weight training while in prison and he does not have a girlfriend at the present time.

Cont/...

Andrew Martia Shaw.

-3-

Mental State Examination: He presented as a young man who looked very sad. He avoided eye contact and he was hesitant and slow in his speech, finding it difficult to articulate his thoughts and feelings. His mood was low and at times he looked as if he was verging on tears. He admitted to feeling that life was not worth living but he has no history of self injury in the past.

Thought Content: He has no psychotic phenomena. He describes his dependence on cars and how he has found cars more reliable than people, stating "a motor never lets you down".

Memory: He has no problems with his memory subjectively.

Concentration: His concentration was fairly good on testing.

General Knowledge: General knowledge is limited in keeping with his poor educational achievements.

Insight: He is a young man who has reached the age of 28 years with a long history of car offending. He recognises the need to turn his life around and to find other ways of dealing with his emotions.

Conclusions and Recommendations: This young man had a very disturbed upbringing because of the sudden death of his mother and his father's subsequent alcohol dependence and unreliable parenting. His sought refuge in driving cars which are something which gave him a sense of power over his situation. He has continued to have difficulty relating to others as a result of his childhood experiences. He has made genuine efforts to prevent re-offending and for a reasonable length of time after leaving prison did cope. I would be willing to offer psychiatric supervisions as a condition of probation. He is responsible for his actions. Given his long history of persistent offending there is a risk of re-offending. However he has made genuine efforts to find other ways of dealing with feelings of tension, unhappiness and anger and he is very willing to accept psychiatric treatment and Social Work supervision. I would hope that he would be able to use psychiatric help and in particular to look at the links between his past and present behaviour.

I declare on Soul and Conscience that this Report is a true Report. I am not related to the Defendant nor do I have any pecuniary interest in his disposal.

2. One interview with Mr. Shaw's father at his home address on 29th November 1995.

HOME AND CURRENT CIRCUMSTANCES

Upon release, Mr. Shaw has reported, he intends to return to his father's address in Burnbank. Their home is a 3-apartment upper flat situated in an area which generates a high proportion of referral to the Social Work Department. It is decorated and maintained to a high standard.

The family are well established within their neighbourhood, having lived there 39 years, however, they have no involvement in any Community groups.

Mr. Shaw states he has many associates within the Burnbank area, none of which are involved in offending, alcohol or drugs. The accused feels that this will make it easier for him to re-adjust to life in the Community rather than having to seek and form new relationships.

A major concern for the accused at present is his father's health. Mr. Shaw Senior, was diagnosed as having Cancer of the prostate 10 months ago, and although he has received surgery and follow-up Radiotherapy, his health continues to deteriorate. This illness has caused a lot of stress for the Shaw family as a whole, and has brought them closer. All of Mr. Shaw's (Senior) four sons keep in regular contact and offer support as required.

In discussing the accused relationships with his family, it is obvious his main concern is his father. He states he has a close, supportive relationship with Mr. Shaw (Senior), but feels his relationships with his brothers are of a more superficial level, sometimes he relates to their age differences. There are other extended family within the area with whom contact is maintained.

The accused had been accepted for a Social Care Course by a local College at a time of his incarceration. Mr. Shaw has already made contact with the College in order that they keep his place available till the next intake.

Mr. Shaw has also a Community Service Order to complete given in July of this year at Lanark Sheriff Court. He completed 8 hours of a 200 hour Order before being put on remand.

BACKGROUND

The accused was born in Bellshill, brought up in Burnbank by both parents, the youngest in a family of 4 boys. Mr. Shaw has no recollection of either set of grandparents, both of whom died before his 5th birthday.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Shaw worked when the accused was a young child, with care being supplemented by the older brothers. The accused's earliest memories confirm the family led an ordinary existence until his mother became seriously ill with a heart defect. Mrs. Shaw required nursing within the home till her death in 1976, at which time the family fell apart.

By all accounts, Mr. Shaw (Senior) found it extremely difficulty to cope after the death of his wife, turning to alcohol for solace. The 3 oldest boys had left home by this time, thereby leaving the accused to his own devices and to deal with his mother's death alone.

3/.....

The Social Work Department became involved with the accused when he was 12 years old, after he was referred to the Reporter to the Children's Hearing for car related offences. He was then made subject to a Compulsory Supervision Order until October 1982. Departmental records from this time indicate that Mr. Shaw was prepared to work with the Supervising Officer, he also responded well when given praise for his efforts. Albeit it was also noted at the time his Order was discharged, that Andrew Shaw had many deep rooted internal problems that had never been resolved.

Unfortunately, the accused's behaviour continued to deteriorate, in that he accrued many further car related offences, leading to time within a Young Offenders Institution. Since which time Mr. Shaw has had many further periods of incarceration, all of which have failed to address the cause of his offending.

Mr. Shaw approached the Clinical Psychologist within Shotts Prison during 1993, who saw him on a few occasions. On the accused's release a referral was made to the Psychology Department at Hairmyres Hospital to continue contact. However, despite attempts to intervene by Mr. Shaw's Parole Officer, this did not transpire.

EDUCATION AND EMPLOYMENT

Mr. Shaw attended mainstream primary education within the Burnbank area, within which no concerns were identified until after the death of his mother. He went on to Earnock High, where he attended approximately 1 to 2 years before being transferred to Geilsland 'List D' School in Beith due to his truanting, and offending.

Eventually Mr. Shaw attained 3 'O' Grades and City and Guilds Certificates in Spray Painting/Welding within Castle Huntly Y.O.I., and 'H' Grade English whilst in H. M. Prison Shotts.

The accused's periods of incarceration have reduced greatly any opportunities the accused may have had for employment. Other than a short spell in a Shop and an 11 month period working in Ireland as a Machine Operator he has no other formal employment experience.

HEALTH

Mr. Shaw reports always keeping in good physical health, other than a brief stomach complaint which was treated by medication.

As for Mr. Shaw's mental health, he reports suffering on-going bouts of depression since early adolescence. He also describes his "compulsion" for cars as an indication he has mental health problems, a concern he is keen to seek professional help to address.

ALCOHOL/DRUGS/SOLVENTS

Drugs or solvents have never been an issue in the accused's life, nor, other than the very occasional drink, has alcohol. This has been verified by Mr. Shaw's father and previous workers.

PREVIOUS CONVICTIONS

All previous convictions were accepted by Mr. Shaw. He describes his involvement in these offences as part of a compulsion from which he receives a "high". He relates this further to the feelings he imagines others get from artificial stimuli such as alcohol or drugs, and acknowledges he is unable to combat this on his own.

RECENT OFFENCE

This offence highlights once again Mr. Shaw's inability to deal with his addiction to cars. He accepts his responsibility in driving the car and did not attempt to excuse himself in any way. Albeit, Mr. Shaw did state he has requested help in the past which was not forthcoming.

ATTITUDE TO SUPERVISION OF PAROLE (26.11.95 - 29.4.95)

Mr. Shaw co-operated fully with his Supervising Officer, attending appointments as requested and made himself available for contact.

Of his own volition, he sought and obtained a college placement and remained firm to his statement not to re-offend. Mr. Shaw also attempted to gain support from local Psychological Services but to no avail.

It was the Supervising Officer's opinion that Mr. Shaw used his period of supervision to adjust to life at home and in the Community, as well as motivation to cease his offending.

ATTITUDE TO COMMUNITY SERVICE

As stated previously, Mr. Shaw was made subject to a 200 hour Community Service Order at Lanark Sheriff Court in July of this year. Before being placed on remand, the accused completed 8 hours satisfactorily. Upon his release, the accused has stated his intention to make himself available in order to complete the outstanding hours.

SENTENCING OPTIONSCommunity Service

Mr. Shaw has been fully discussed with a member of the Community Service Team, who confirmed that Mr. Shaw's current order has 192 hours left. They also confirm that upon release, Mr. Shaw will have work made available to him in order that his Order will be completed.

In view of the current 192 hours outstanding, the Court has 48 hours at their disposal should they consider a further Order a suitable disposal.

Probation

The requirements of a Probation Order have been fully discussed with Mr. Shaw, and he has stated his determination to cope with its demands. Mr. Shaw is of the opinion a Probation Order would offer him the necessary support and motivation to address his offending and underlying issues.

Should the Court consider making the accused subject to a Probation Order, then the proposed Action Plan may include:

1. Exploration of the areas in Mr. Shaw's life which create problems and may have been contributory factors in his offending behaviour.
2. Consideration of choices, planning for the future and making preparation for this.
3. Exploration of job prospects/training.
4. The Supervising Officer would maintain links to any other agencies, e.g. Psychological Services to ensure that a joint approach will be adopted.

Monetary Penalty

Mr. Shaw will be able to meet weekly payments should the Court consider a fine.

ASSESSMENT AND RECOMMENDATION

Mr. Shaw involved himself fully in the writing of this report. He presents as a quiet, thoughtful man, who had, at times, difficulty articulating his feelings and thoughts with regards to his mother's death and subsequent events.

It is apparent from reading previous records, that the death of Mrs. Shaw has remained a live issue continuously. The lack of support around for the family at the time left Andrew Shaw to his own devices, and it is apparent, when discussing this, that he internalised his grief to cope with his father's alcoholism.

At the age of 12, Mr. Shaw became involved with the Social Work Department for car related offences, an issue that has also remained live to the present day. Andrew Shaw has described his compulsion for cars as the only way he gets relief from bouts of depression or life. He has shown himself willing to gain help, both by the use of Psychological Services within the Prison Service and more recently gained support to refrain from offending by the Supervision of his Parole.

* The frequency of incarcerations from early on in Mr. Shaw's offending career, did not address any of the underlying issues, even as the amount of charges increased.

For the purposes of compiling this report, the writer was unable to make contact with the psychiatrist assessing Mr Shaw. Should he feel Mr Shaw would, in fact, benefit from further psychiatric counselling, then this could be encompassed within a Probation Order. This would offer him the opportunity to address the issues that underpin his offending behaviour further.

This report is respectfully passed to the Court for its consideration.

PSYCHIATRIC REPORT

Re: Andrew Martin Shaw.
21/04/1967.

Case Ref. No: 9500059460.

At the request of the Sheriff Clerk Depute, Hamilton, I Doctor Isobel Campbell, Consultant Forensic Psychiatrist from Hartwoodhill Hospital examined Andrew Shaw at H.M.P. Barlinnie on the 4th December 1995 for the purpose of preparing a Psychiatric Report. I had a copy of the Charges to which the Defendant has pled guilty and a copy of his Previous Convictions. I am recognised in terms of Section 20 of the Mental Health (Scotland) Act 1984 as having special experience in the diagnosis and treatment of mental disorder.

The Charges: Andrew Shaw is convicted of reset of a car, driving a car without licence and driving a car without insurance. Although he has a long previous history of taking and driving away cars from the age of 11 years this is the first conviction since his release from prison in November 1993. While he was in prison he sought help of his own volition from visiting Clinical Psychologist. He recognises that he is likely to offend when he is feeling angry or distressed and he recognises that his offending behaviour relieves these unpleasant feelings for him.

Past Psychiatric History: He was seen for 5 months during his last sentence by Mr Gerry Rooney, Clinical Psychologist at H.M.P. Shotts. He found that helpful and initially he dealt with his uncomfortable feelings by phoning his supervising officer whenever he felt that he was tempted to take a car. However he found that latterly the pressure was too much and he therefore ended up driving illegally once again.

Past Medical History: He has suffered from Peptic Ulcer which perforated in 1993. He continues to receive Ranitidine therapy for his ulcer.

Cont/...

Andrew Martin Shaw.

There is no history of head injury, no history of Epilepsy and he has had no other serious illnesses.

Family History: He is the youngest of 4 brothers. There was a big gap between him and the next youngest sibling of 14-15 years. His mother died of congenital heart disease when he was only 8 years of age. His father is now 70 years old. He is a retired Steel Worker and he maintains contact with his son.

Personal History: His family background is very tragic, his mother having died suddenly when he was aged 8 years. His older brothers were all away from home by that time and his father failed to cope with his wife's death and started to drink. He describes vividly how he had to get himself up in the morning and feed himself and get out to school and how he would come home at night and have no idea where his father was. In effect his father was neither available for him physically nor emotionally. I would consider that he was emotionally neglected and also physically neglected at that time in his childhood. There was no one to whom he could speak and no one with whom he could discuss his own feelings of sadness at his mother's death.

He drifted around, frequently truanting from school and gradually became involved in offending behaviour. He first stole a car at the age of 11 years and the car which he took belonged to his older brother who was home on leave from the Army. He indicated that driving the car made him feel happier, that he had something which was finally under his control and he said "it did what I wanted it to do". Given that his important parental figures had been so unreliable for him it is understandable that he took refuge in something which was inanimate and which was under his control. He described frequently sleeping in the cars which he stole and feeling safe in them.

Since his release from prison in 1993 he started a College Course doing Social Care and having completed the first year he was about the start the second year of the course at North Glasgow College.

He also formed a relationship and this lasted from February 1994 until April 1995. He moved in with a woman who was much older than he and who herself had an 18 year old son. He found it difficult to cope with the relationship and he described how he found it very difficult to articulate feelings of anger or sadness in the relationship. The relationship broke down in April 1995 and his offending took place in May 1995.

Drug and Alcohol History: He is a non drinker. He has no history of use of illicit substances. He takes prescribed medication for ulcer. He is a non smoker.

Social History: He has little form of relaxation. He does weight training while in prison and he does not have a girlfriend at the present time.

Cont/...

Andrew Martin Shaw.

Mental State Examination: He presented as a young man who looked very sad. He avoided eye contact and he was hesitant and slow in his speech, finding it difficult to articulate his thoughts and feelings. His mood was low and at times he looked as if he was verging on tears. He admitted to feeling that life was not worth living but he has no history of self injury in the past.

Thought Content: He has no psychotic phenomena. He describes his dependence on cars and how he has found cars more reliable than people, stating "a motor never lets you down".

Memory: He has no problems with his memory subjectively.

Concentration: His concentration was fairly good on testing.

General Knowledge: General knowledge is limited in keeping with his poor educational achievements.

Insight: He is a young man who has reached the age of 28 years with a long history of car offending. He recognises the need to turn his life around and to find other ways of dealing with his emotions.

Conclusions and Recommendations: This young man had a very disturbed upbringing because of the sudden death of his mother and his father's subsequent alcohol dependence and unreliable parenting. He sought refuge in driving cars which are something which gave him a sense of power over his situation. He has continued to have difficulty relating to others as a result of his childhood experiences. He has made genuine efforts to prevent re-offending and for a reasonable length of time after leaving prison did cope. I would be willing to offer psychiatric supervisions as a condition of probation. He is responsible for his actions. Given his long history of persistent offending there is a risk of re-offending. However he has made genuine efforts to find other ways of dealing with feelings of tension, unhappiness and anger and he is very willing to accept psychiatric treatment and Social Work supervision. I would hope that he would be able to use psychiatric help and in particular to look at the links between his past and present behaviour.

I declare on Soul and Conscience that this Report is a true Report. I am not related to the Defendant nor do I have any pecuniary interest in his disposal.

Dr. Isobel Campbell,
Consultant Forensic Psychiatrist.
